A child leaves ~~from~~ his parents inherits intelligence and some knowledge from his parents even before he/she is born. And ~~also~~ from thereafter also from his other near & dear ~~and~~ and ones. Thereafter ~~after~~ comes the school.

Without knowledge, a human being would be blind. Of course, every child, pupil and student needs guidance in what ~~kind~~ type of books to read, and what not to be. Content & standard of books naturally keeps growing ~~in~~ with the growth of greater knowledge, relating to almost most subjects.

Every good school, college or university has to have a ~~good~~ ~~to~~ good library from which students can read books of great Indian writers and writers of other countries to enrich his knowledge and personality. Besides that, during life student life period and thereafter ~~for~~ good books can be purchased from the market also.

Books however, are expensive & developed an habit of collecting and noting down wise sayings (quotations) of great ~~writers~~ personalities including writers. I found that of not only an interesting but very educating even though every quotation is very small. And other too are not lengthy.

On occasions like New Year, Birth days Anniversaries of relatives, friends and colleagues, A real good quotation from writings of great men like Rabindranath Tagore, Mahatma Gandhi, Jawahar Lal and other outstanding Indians as well as from world renowned philosophers like Karl Marx, Revolutionary leaders like Lenin as well as from sacred books of different religions will not only be very inspiring and educative ~~more~~ MUCH MORE than the costly greeting cards usually used by the public by sections of public these days.

Idea of printing a "Book of good Quotations" was suggested by a friend of mine. And here is the result.

I must thank my old though very much younger friend Prof. Ray Kumar, of Teach Beharita (A.P.), who has been teaching in S.A.V. College, Islandpur since Satyabal Das
